

BevCam Executive Director's Report
For the Month of December 2016

PRODUCTION AND OUTREACH

A camera person's view of Nino through the studio camera focusing screen

Beverly's most famous artist, Nino Lombardi, continues to tape his series "Color by Nino" in the BevCam studio. This show has become a favorite among our viewers. Nino's painted "Lady Bug" rocks and Penguin paintings have become iconic items.

BevCam has developed a solid working relationship with the Cabot Performing Arts Center. We have taped many performances, including Darlene Love. ED Walt Kosmowski is on the Cabot Advisory Committee. Also, in the works is a new show called "Cabot Now" with Casey Soward.

Cabot ED Casey Soward will be hosting a new show on BevCam called "Cabot Now"

President Molly Martins talks with Walt Kosmowski during taping in the BevCam studio.

Molly Martins, the President of The Academy at Penguin Hall, was a guest on the "North Shore Journal" show. The Academy is a new all girl College Preparatory School which opened last September. It is located on a stunning 50 acre campus in Wenham.

With all of the development/construction projects in the City, in the interest of community service, BevCam has been regularly covering meetings of the School Building Committee and the Planning Department.

A Planning Department slide of an artist's rendering of the Bass River Project

For several years now, since moving into the new school building in 2010, BevCam has been broadcasting home boys and girls basketball games “live” from the field house. Kudos to Robert Dokes and his adult and student volunteers who crew these contests.

The Beverly Boys Basketball Team moves the ball up court against Winthrop